

THE CLIMATE IS CHANGING IN THE BOW VALLEY

DO YOU WANT TO KNOW MORE?

Canmore's own Western Watershed Climate Research Collaborative is hosting an international climate change forum in the Bow Valley and a public presentation has been organized for the public to learn from experts what is presently known about climate impacts on the mountain West and how we can adapt to them.

Where:

The Canmore Collegiate Theatre
Admission Is Free

When:

7:30 PM
Thursday, November 22nd, 2007

The Program:

7:30 PM Welcome and Introductions of WWCRC board and special guests:
Dr. Norman Henderson
Prairie Adaptation Research Collaborative

8:30 PM Climate Change Impacts on Water Resources in the Rocky Mountains
Presenter: Dr. Shawn Marshall
WWCRC/The University of Calgary

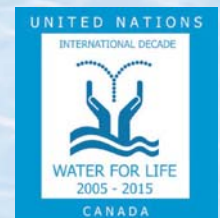

7:40 PM Climate Change: The Swiss Experience
A Summary of the Expected Impacts On Environment, Society & Economy in Switzerland
Presenter: Dr. Henry Baltes
ETH
Zurich, Switzerland

9:00 PM Climate Change: How Can We Adapt?
A summary presentation introducing the Climate Vulnerability Assessment for the Bow River Basin and its implications for Canmore and southern Alberta
Dr. David Sauchyn and Bob Sandford

8:10 PM Climate Change Impacts in the Rocky Mountains as Seen Through the Eyes of a Renowned Canadian Mountaineer
Presenter: Barry Blanchard

9:30 PM Where We Go From Here
Dr. Dennis Fitzpatrick
Vice President, Research
The University of Lethbridge

Sponsored By:

With Special Thanks To Our Canmore Accommodation & Conference Sponsor

For More Information on the
CREATING CLIMATE CHANGE ADAPTATION SYNERGIES IN NORTH AMERICA CONFERENCE

Contact Bob Sandford at the Western Watersheds Climate Research Collaborative sandford@telusplanet.net